

[Identical letter sent to all Members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives]

July 28, 2008

The Honorable Harry Reid
Majority Leader
United States Senate
S-221 Capitol
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Majority Leader Reid:

Our country has always been a hospitable place for invention. It is a reflection of our values and ingenuity. Government policies such as the R&D tax credit are expressions of our desire to innovate and create.

We write to you – from companies across the country both large and small – to address an issue that we believe will affect the likelihood that high-skilled jobs such as ours are located in our communities and in our country.

Simply put, we are dismayed that Congress has allowed the R&D tax credit to expire. We know that most of you have lauded the benefits of the credit, and we appreciate this support. We urge you to act now to enact into law an extension of a strengthened credit because research-dependent jobs are at stake.

The signatures you see on this letter represent just some of the tens of thousands of real people who have benefited positively from the effects of the credit over the past 26 years. You can read studies and surveys, but we are living proof that the vast majority of R&D credit dollars go directly to pay the wages of highly skilled American workers.

Between high gas prices and falling home values, it is a difficult time for all Americans. As you work to boost U.S. economic activity, please act quickly to reinstate and strengthen a program with a track record of more than two decades of success. We thank you for your commitment to our country and to U.S. workers.

Sincerely,

[Employee Names Attached]
